

Charges for updates of canned software are fully taxable pursuant to 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1935. (This is a GIL.)

February 22, 2001

Dear Xxxxx:

This letter is in response to your letter dated January 16, 2001. The nature of your letter and the information you have provided require that we respond with a General Information Letter, which is designed to provide general information, is not a statement of Department policy and is not binding on the Department. See 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.120(b) and (c), which can be found on the Department's website at <http://www.revenue.state.il.us/legalinformation/regs/part1200>.

In your letter, you have stated and made inquiry as follows:

I have a sales/use tax question.

I understand that computer hardware and canned computer software purchases are considered taxable in the state of Illinois. I also understand that modified or custom software purchases are exempt from Illinois sales tax.

My question involves maintenance agreements on computer equipment and computer software. Are they considered non-taxable services?

Please respond as soon as you can to the address shown below or a fax would be fine.
Thank you!

In general, maintenance agreements that cover computer software and hardware are treated the same as maintenance agreements for other types of tangible personal property. The taxability of maintenance agreements is dependent upon whether the charge for the agreement is included in the selling price of tangible personal property. If the charge for a maintenance agreement is included in the selling price of tangible personal property, that charge is part of the gross receipts of the retail transaction and is subject to Retailers' Occupation Tax liability. No tax is incurred on the maintenance services or parts when the repair or servicing is completed.

If maintenance agreements are sold separately from tangible personal property, the sale of the agreement is not a taxable transaction. However, when maintenance services or parts are provided under the maintenance agreement, the company providing the maintenance or repair will be acting as a service provider under the Service Occupation Tax Act. The Service Occupation Tax Act provides that when a service provider enters into an agreement to provide maintenance services for a particular piece of equipment for a stated period of time at a predetermined fee, the service provider incurs Use Tax based upon its cost price of tangible personal property transferred to the customer incident to the completion of the maintenance service. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 140.301(b)(3), enclosed.

Charges for updates of canned software are fully taxable pursuant to Section 130.1935. If the updates qualify as custom software under Section 130.1935(c), they may not be taxable. But, if maintenance agreements provide for updates of canned software, and the charges for those updates are not separately stated and taxed, then the whole agreement would be taxable as sales of canned software.

Assuming that the services provided, such as installation, phone support, training, and seminars, do not require the transfer of tangible personal property to the recipients of those services, charges for such services are exempt if they are separately stated from the selling price of canned software. See Section 130.1935(b). If computer software training or other support services are provided in conjunction with a sale of custom computer software or a license of computer software, the charges for that training are not subject to tax.

I hope this information is helpful. The Department of Revenue maintains a website, which can be accessed at www.revenue.state.il.us. If you have further questions related to the Illinois sales tax laws, please contact the Department's Taxpayer Information Division at (217) 782-3336.

If you are not under audit and you wish to obtain a binding Private Letter Ruling regarding your factual situation, please submit all of the information set out in items 1 through 8 of Section 1200.110(b).

Very truly yours,
